

What is Early Help?

Early Help is a way in which different services can proactively think and work together to support families with additional or more complex needs. The aim of the Early Help service is to build resilience within families, to enable them to find their own solutions in the future and to prevent further problems arising.

Early Help's preventative approach, provides support to families when a need is identified or as soon as a problem emerges at any point in a child's life, from conception, through childhood and into adolescence.

Early Help should not be seen as a specific service, but crucially how services work collectively through tailored support packages for specific needs in individual families.

If you are worried about a child or have an Early Help enquiry, fill in the online form . If you need information or advice about a child or young person before completing the form, call Early Help from 8.30am to 4.30pm, Monday to Friday, on 01302 734110. Visit Doncaster Children's Services Trust on www.dscb.co.uk/early-help for full information.

Always call 999 if someone is in immediate danger.
